The Record-breaking Jump!

Mr. Sreerag Rajan of MSW II awed all the onlookers with his jump in the High Jump event in the intercampus sports meet held at Amrita Vishwa Vidyapeetham, Coimbatore. He broke the previous record, which was made by himself, by jumping across the bar set at an astounding 1.75 meters high. Participants and viewers rushed in to congratulate him as he fell on the mattress. Not only the gold medal for High Jump, Sreerag went on to win the award for Individual Champion under the Men's Athletics category. The team of Udaan and the Department of Social Work heartily congratulates Sreerag for this wonderful achievement.

Visit to Inaugural Programme on Techno Economic Study for the Economic Development of SC and ST

On 21st December 2022 some of the MSW I students, along with Dr S. Velmurugan, visited the Madras Management Association for an introductory cum inauguration programme on the Techno Economic Study for the Economic Development of SC and ST. It was organised by Tamil Nadu Adi-Dravidar Housing and Development Corporation (TAHDCO). The meeting started with the lighting of the lamp by the Chairman and MD of the company. The company invited students from various Colleges and Departments of Social Work along with faculty members all over Tamil Nadu to participate in the meeting. The main aim of conducting the meeting was to make sure whether the SC & ST Schemes are reaching rural areas and to the beneficiaries. The Chairman of TAHDCO, Mr. U. Mathivanan, gave the students an enriching speech about the role of governance in making schemes for SC and ST. The training session was conducted by Mr. K. S. Kandasamy, IAS, MD, TAHDCO who taught the students the way to take the survey and to make use of the app to take the survey. He also explained about the obstacles that one might face during the survey. With that, the meeting came to its end.

of Buddha and Mahaveera towards Social Work, Swami Vivekananda and his notable contribution to mankind, the Gandhian philosophical foundation to social work in Indian, Sree Narayana Guru's model, Bhakti movement etc. His in-depth knowledge on this topic helped the students gain insight on the role of Indian cultural and traditional practices in the field of social work. It was an interactive session and the students got to know through discussion that the Indian philosophical contributions tend to contradict one another, whose practices and ideologies are different, and it is more flexible that the followers can accept it and follow those according to their will, and these philosophical ideologies are not imposed on another, and not a single ideology is believed to be superior to another. The session helped the students gain knowledge and ideas about a few important reformers, as Indian philosophy is vast and complex. The session helped the students to learn about the prominent personalities in the field of social work.

Department of Social Work, Coimbatore campus, organised a webinar on 'Indian Philosophy and Social Work' by Dr. M. Nagalingam on 23.12.2022. Dr. M. Guest lecture on Correctional Setting and Amma's Vision

The Department of Social Work, Coimbatore, conducted a session on 'Correctional setting and Amma's vision' on 26-12-2022. The session was addressed by Br. Bhavani ji, Manikandan ji and Shanti ji. The session focused on the correctional settings of both men and women. They discussed the mental health of the prisoners. Their aim in Amma's Prison Program is to reduce the stress among inmates and to provide them a goal or to let them understand their purpose of life. They gave the students detailed knowledge on the life of prisoners and the social stereotype which exists in the society which labels the prisoners irrespective of the crime they do. They also spoke about how agitated the person may feel, when they are arrested for the crime they did not even commit. Amma's correctional service works on the principle of social work, ranging from non-judgmental attitude, principle of confidentiality, controlled emotional involvement, and principle of acceptance. They gave the students an idea on the role of a social worker in the correctional setting. This program does not force any of the inmates to attend the session, it is solely meant for the inmates who wish to participate. The sessions help the inmates find their talents and know more about people. Believing in the principle of 'idle mind is devil's workshop', the inmates are completely involved in the sessions with various activities and are not left idle. The students got an idea about the need for restoring the mental health as well as to rehabilitate the negatives in the prisoners and make them understand the values in life and help them lead a purposeful life.

Book Review

Power of your Subconscious Mind

My only takeaway from this book is to believe in the Subconscious mind.

Initially, it's hard to grasp and swallow the thought. As human beings, we have been groomed to believe in what we see and learn through formal means. Visualizing the "sub-conscious" mind is a "vast" concept for our minds to fathom. Still, if you allow your mind to at least listen to this concept and then accept it with an open heart, your subconscious mind will get activated. Once, that happens, you will not only start believing in it, but you will also see the value and the benefits.

Despite such a "vastness" of this thought, once I close my eyes to explore this concept, I find it very comfortable and relaxing to believe in the power of my subconscious mind.

I practice daily meditation and books like this, only reaffirm the power of a closed eye and an open subconscious mind.

Ikigai: The Japanese Secret to a Long and Happy Life

'Ikigai: The Japanese Secret to a Long and Happy Life' is a book written by Héctor García and Francisc Miralles that explores the concept of ikigai, a Japanese term that refers to one's sense of purpose in life. The book is organized into four main sections, each of which focuses on a different aspect of ikigai: the importance of finding one's passion, the role of community in finding ikigai, the importance of good health and daily habits, and the need to be present in the present moment.

One of the key takeaways from the book is the idea that finding one's ikigai can lead to a more fulfilling and happy life. The authors argue that this sense of purpose can be found through a combination of one's passions, values, and the needs of the world around them. They also emphasize the importance of living in the present moment and maintaining good physical and mental health as key components of finding and maintaining one's ikigai.

Overall, "Ikigai" is a well-written and thought-provoking book that offers valuable insights and practical advice for anyone looking to find more meaning and fulfillment in their life. The authors draw on a wealth of research and personal anecdotes to illustrate the concept of ikigai, and the book is filled with practical tips and exercises to help readers discover and pursue their own sense of purpose. Whether you are seeking a new direction in your career, looking to make a positive impact on the world, or simply want to live a happier and more fulfilling life, "Ikigai" is a must-read.

Well Known Social Worker

Sindhutai Sapkal

Sindhutai Sapkal was an Indian social worker and activist mainly known for her work in raising orphaned children in India. She was born in Wardha district in Maharashtra and was forced to marry at the age of twelve to a man in Navargaon village in Wardha district where she fought against the exploitation of women by the Forest department and landlords in 1972 for collecting cow dung. She was rejected by her husband and in-laws and was abandoned by them for dissenting against the landlords. She gave birth to her daughter in 1973 and in order to provide for her, she started begging for food. After a lot of struggle she went to live in Chikhaldara in Amravati district of Maharashtra. In Amravati, because of the Tiger Preservation Project, 84 tribal villages were evacuated. Sindhutai fought for proper rehabilitation of the tribal people who were in a helpless situation. Her efforts were appreciated by the then Forest Minister who made appropriate arrangements for alternate relocation of tribals.

During the phases of her life she came across many children who were abandoned by their parents and so she started adopting the children who were orphans. Later she sent her own daughter to a trust in Pune to avoid partiality between her and other adopted children. She was popularly called 'Mai' which means mother. She is also known as the Mother of Orphans. She travelled across villages and cities to raise funds which were used to build homes for orphans. She was honoured with many awards some of which are:

Padma Shri for social work in 2021

Nari Shakti Puraskar in 2017

Honorary doctorate in 2016

Ahmadiyya Muslim Peace Prize in 2014

Mother Teresa Award for social justice in 2013

The National Award for Iconic Mother in 2013

SCHEMES AND ACTS

National Food Security Act, 2013

The National Food Security Act (NFSA) was enacted in 2013 with the objective to provide for food and nutritional security in the human life cycle approach, by ensuring access to adequate quantities of quality food at affordable prices to people to live a life with dignity. The Act provides coverage for nearly 2/3rd of the country's total population, based on Census 2011 population estimates. 75% of rural and 50% of urban population is entitled to receive highly subsidized food grains under two categories i.e Antyodaya Anna Yojana(AAY) households and Priority Households (PHH). The eldest woman of the beneficiary household (18 years or above) is considered 'Head of Family' for the purpose of issuing ration cards. The NFSA assigns joint responsibilities to the federal and state governments. The central government is responsible for allocating and transporting food grains to designated depots in the states and UTs whereas the state government is responsible for identifying eligible households, issuing ration cards, distributing foodgrain entitlements through fair price shops, licensing and monitoring Fair Price Shop (FPS) dealers, establishing an effective grievance redress mechanism, and strengthening the Targeted Public Distribution System (TPDS). Direct Benefit Transfer involves the cash equivalent of the subsidy being transferred directly into the bank accounts of eligible households. The National Food Security Act of 2013 is an important step toward addressing the country's food insecurity and hunger.

West Bengal Lakshmi Bhandar Scheme

LAKSHMI BHANDAR SCHEME

The State Government of West Bengal launched the “Lakshmi Bhandar Scheme” in the year 2022. The Lakshmi Bhandar Scheme offers basic income aid to the female heads of the household. Through this program, the government would give general category households Rs 500 per month and SC/ST families Rs 1000 per month. This program will help around 1.6 crore families in West Bengal. The average monthly family consumption expense in the state is Rs 5249, which has been taken into consideration when launching this program. 10% to 20% of a beneficiary’s monthly expenses will be paid with the help of the financial assistance offered through this program. Beneficiaries’ bank accounts will receive a direct deposit of the benefit amount under this program.

This scheme was a part of the election manifesto of the Trinamool Congress. Around 1.60 households of West Bengal will benefit from this scheme. Some of the rules and regulations of West Bengal Lakshmi Bhandar Scheme are that beneficiaries can obtain an application form for free from government camps that are set up around the state. Families with at least one tax-paying member are unable to enroll for this program. The eligibility criteria to apply for the scheme is that the candidate must be a permanent resident in West Bengal and are between the ages of 25 and 60 are eligible to apply under this programme. Women working in permanent positions in the public or private sector are ineligible for this program’s benefits. All SC and ST category households are eligible to apply under this programme. Families in the general category who have at least one tax-paying member are not eligible to apply under this programme. Citizens from the general category who own more than two hectares of land are not eligible to apply for this programme.

Digital India

Digital India is a programme of the Government of India with a vision to change India into a digitally empowered society and knowledge economy. This Programme helps to make India ready for a knowledge future. The focus is on making technology central to enabling change. It is an Umbrella Programme that affects many departments.

It created a large number of ideas and thoughts into a single, comprehensive vision so it helped each of them to be seen as part of a big goal. Each individual element stands on its own but is also part of the larger picture. It is coordinated by the Department of Electronics and Information Technology (DeITY) and executed by the entire government. Establishing the visions together makes the Mission transformative in success. The Programme helps in joining many existing schemes which will be restructured and re-focused and executed in a synchronized manner. This scheme will provide seamless integrated services across departments or jurisdictions and will make sure that the services are available in real time from online & mobile platforms. This scheme enhances Digitally transformed services for improving ease of doing business. Digital India also focuses on making financial transactions electronic & cashless. Digital India also uses a system for Leveraging called Geospatial Information Systems (GIS) for decision support systems & development. The scheme ensures the availability of digital resources and services in Indian languages. It helps to collaborate digital platforms for participative governance.

Project Vaani

Project Vaani is the initiation for the development of technologies like automatic speech recognition, speech to speech translation and natural language understanding. This project will be implemented jointly by the Indian Institute of Science (IISc), ART-PARK (AI and Robotics Technology Park) and Google. Its main purpose is to understand diverse Indian languages and vernacular. The approximate cost of this project is 30 to 40 million USD. This project supports both speech and text translation. It will be trained on speech and text from over 100 Indian languages which are spoken by over 1 lakh people across India. Its main goal is to provide a technical solution for the lingual barriers through technology all over the country.

Delhi's 'Real Time Source Apportionment Project'

The Delhi Government approved and launched its winter action plan in November 2022. It was implemented by the Delhi Pollution Control Committee in tie up with IIT-Kanpur, IIT-Delhi and TERI. The progress of the real-time source apportionment project was reviewed by the Delhi Chief-Minister Arvind Kejriwal. It helps to accurately identify the causes of air pollution like vehicle weary, dust, biogas burning and industrial emissions. The data will be collected and used to predict air pollution levels on an hourly, daily and weekly basis. This also will help the government to take dynamic measures to control pollution and mobilize resources to ensure strict consent with pollution control standards.

New Gender Reform laws of Spain and Scotland

Scotland and Spain have recently passed gender reform laws for the individuals to change their legitimately registered gender without requiring any medical management. The Gender Recognition Reform (Scotland) bill makes Scotland the first country in the United Kingdom to approve the self-identification process for changing gender. The bill also suggests banning transformation therapies that seek to subdue sexual orientation or gender identity. It also seeks to foist fines and punishment on people attacking individuals belonging to LGBTQ community. In India, the transgender people's rights are also controlled by the Transgender Persons (Protection of Rights) Act, 2019 and the Transgender Persons (Protection of Rights) Rules, 2020. State governments are needed to initiate welfare boards for transgender persons to protect their rights and interests and make possible ways into schemes and welfare initiatives executed by the Central Government.

India's first Green Steel

India-based Kalyani Group has launched India's first "green" steel brand called Kalyani Ferresta. The steel manufactured without using fossil fuels is known as green steel. It is manufactured using low-carbon energy sources like hydrogen, electricity, or coal desulphurisation as a replacement of the conventional carbon-exhaustive manufacturing way. The Ferresta-branded steel has up to 70 percent scrap that is melted over an electric curve, which is fuelled by renewable resources. In this new method, the company was able to abolish 76,484 total carbon dioxide (tCO₂) outpouring, reduce water consumption by 10 percent, and was able to recycle 99.4 percent of its waste.

The Wheebox India Skills Report 2023

The Wheebox India Skills Report 2023, which was released recently, found an increase in the employability of Indians over the past one year. The Wheebox India Skills Report 2023 was assembled by occupational form, companies, educational institutions, and others. How was your life at Amrita? -

It was the most amazing part of life. Lush green campus with diverse sports facilities, an Olympic size swimming pool and supporting facilities brought the best out of me.

What are the key skills that you learned at Amrita which helped you in your career? -

Human Centric Approach, Spiritually, Psychology and all the course work that I did there.

How is the current scope of Social Work? -

Current scope in India is growing rapidly with government Ministries hiring MSW freshers, hospitals like Fortis, AIIMS having psychiatric social work department and all corporates hiring Social workers to implement their CSR

What message would you like to give for the current MSW students? -

Think Big as there are lot of opportunities waiting and don't confine yourself to southern part of India

What are your key responsibilities in the present job? -

Recruitment, Data management and stakeholder management

Who is/are your inspiration(s)? -

Dr. Kanagaraj from the Social work department of Amrita university. Who bloomed using his hard work, even after facing adversities in Life.

Any other thing that you would like to share? nothing?

I would like to thank the Social work department for helping me grow in my career and providing immense support whenever required.
