THREE-DAY COMPREHENSIVE TRAINING ON PLANNING INTERVENTION STRATEGIES TO – COMBAT VIOLENCE AGAINST CHILDREN FOR SOCIAL WORK TRAINEES

The three-day comprehensive training for social workers entitled "Planning Intervention Strategies to Combat Violence Against Children" was held on 3rd to 5th May 2023 at Gokulakrishna Hall, CIR. The resource person was Dr. Pooja Kandula, National Child Protection Consultant and Trainer, New Delhi. The training started at 9:00 am. The welcome address was delivered by Dr. P. Rangasami, Chairperson, The Department of Social Work. Mr. V.S. Varunanvelu, Assistant Professor, Department of Social Work briefed the agenda of the three-day comprehensive training. The training started with "Life Skills Education". The session covered the 10 basic life skills (Communication, Interpersonal relationships, Empathy, Self awareness, Problem solving, Decision making, Creativity, Critical thinking, Coping with stress, Coping with emotion) by World Health Organisation (WHO). For the in depth understanding the trainer detailed the aspects with the reference of SAMVAD (Support, Advocacy and Mental Health Interventions for Children in Vulnerable Circumstances and Disaster), Department of Child and Adolescent Psychiatry, NIMHANS. The ten basic life skills categorized into social skills, thinking skills, emotional skills. Then in the afternoon session the social workers divided into groups and activities conducted on life skills. The activities helped the social work students to understand the concept of life skills in a multi-dimensional manner. Major takeaways from the session on Life Skills Education :

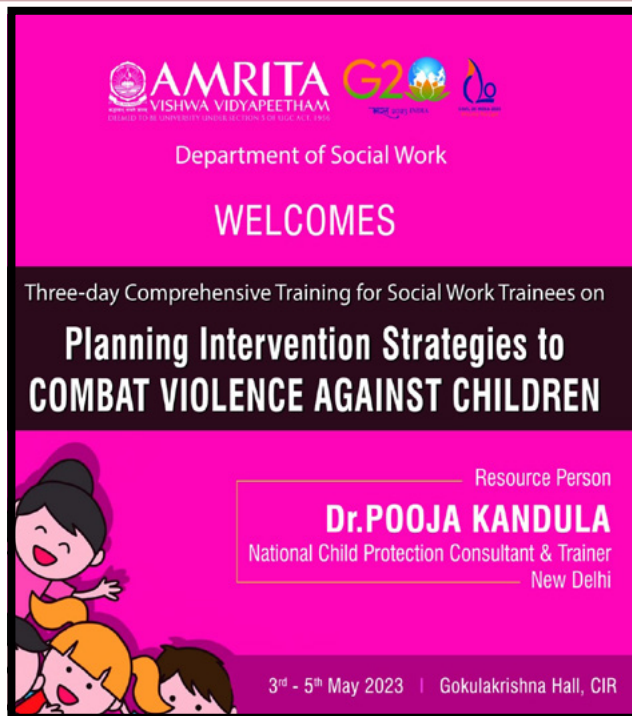

- Life skills are a set of abilities, attitudes and socio-emotional competencies that enable individuals to learn, make informed decisions and exercise rights to lead a healthy and productive life and subsequently become agents of change.
- Children must be provided the opportunity to gain knowledge and develop relevant

After that Pooja ma'am conducted a class on child protection policy and legislation. Discussion was held in this class about JJ act 14 principles, POCSO act, different legislations existed in India related to child protection with that also held a discussion about the roles and job opportunities of the social workers in different sectors. As part of this session, a discussion was held regarding the mandatory reporting mentioned in the POCSO act. The topic of the debate was mandatory reporting is there and mandatory reporting is not there. The students were divided into two groups and an active debate session was held for 15 minutes. The debate ended at 11:15am and the next session started after a ten minutes tea break. The next session is held based on the topic "Preparation of projects proposal using LFA and project management. In this session a detailed class was taken on the topic of resource mapping, stakeholders/ system for child protection, strategic plan, triangle analysis, theory of change, visioning, values etc. Next the students were divided into 6 groups. One of the students miss. Arshida is take initiative to divide the students into groups. Then some news papers were given to all the groups and they were asked to build the tallest tower using this paper. The winner will be the group that builds the tallest tower. The time allotted for this activity was 15 minutes. All team worked very hard to build their towers. After this game Pooja ma'am said that those who won it did a good job but those who lost should not be disappointed because good constructions always need more time to build. And all the groups were asked values, attitudes and skills that will enable them to participate fully in their society and to continue learning.

- Developing life skills amongst children is critical to lead a dignified life.
- Life skills can be used for preventive, promotive and curative purposes.
 - Endorsing the need for a broader and integrated approach to life skills, a comprehensive framework to fashion.
 - Policies and programmes that mainstream life skills both in schools and in communities is critical.

The second day of three days comprehensive training started with an ice breaking session at 9:00am. After that Pooja ma'am asked the students to recap yesterday's session. Accordingly, the students talked about their experience and the input they received from yesterday's class.

The Civil 20's Technology and Security for One World Summit was held at Amrita Vishwa Vidyapeetham, Coimbatore on 13/05/2023-14/05/2023.

Some of the most influential representatives from Civil Society Organizations participated in this event and shared their insights on tech security and transparency. Many special guests were present at the inauguration including the Honourable Governor of Tamil Nadu, Shri. R.N. Ravi, and Swami Amritaswarupananda Puri as a Civil 20 Troika member.

Dr. Vint Cerf, Internet pioneer considered one of the fathers of the Internet, delivered a special keynote on "Connectivity is Everything" during the summit as the first meeting and activity of this alliance. This alliance is intended as a launching pad for evolving the multi-stakeholder policy-making process for security and Internet governance and other pressing issues like digital access, safe harbor, net neutrality, data privacy, fake news, multilingual Internet, and digital rights.

There were other sessions on "The Pillars of Digital Inclusion: Affordability, Financing and Internet Governance" and two engaging panel discussions on "From Cyber Attacks to Cyber Pandemic: Strategies and Solutions for Civil Society Organisations" and "From Exclusion to Empowerment: The Role of Technology in Making Health and Education Accessible to All". The speakers, cybersecurity experts and civil society leaders from around the world shared their perspectives and provided valuable insights and recommendations for addressing current challenges faced by societies today.

The C20 Technology and Security for One World Summit featured several thought-provoking break-

FAREWELL FOR MSW 2021-23 BATCH

On 15th May 2023, 1st year students from the Department of Social Work conducted a farewell party "Pinne Kaanaam", which was organized to bid their humble farewell to their beloved seniors, one last time giving them the space to get together and reminisce about their two years memory and journey at Amrita Vishwa Vidyapeetham.

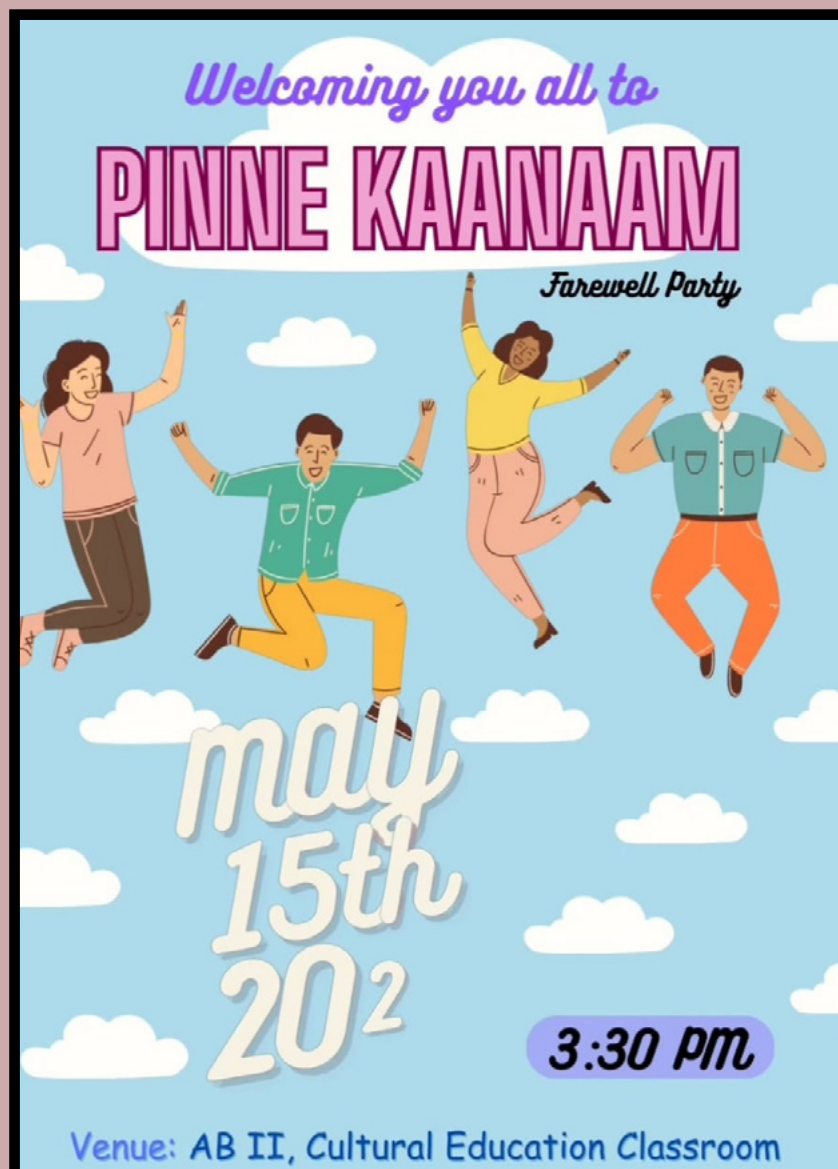

The theme of the event focused on bringing out the essence of a "Carnival" that will appeal to and captivate their young hearts to look back and remember the good times as they take a step forward in life.

The event took place at the Cultural Education Hall, AB II, Amrita Campus, between 3:30 pm and 6:00 pm on a pleasant Monday evening, which was joined by the dignitaries including the Chairperson and department faculty.

The focus of the event was to keep the outgoing students engaged by giving them a platform to have fun with their classmates and share their gratitude and experiences with each other and their professors.

The event began with an entertaining performance by the juniors followed by a faculty speech who shared their valuable and encouraging words. The students put in maximum effort to allow everyone to participate and have their time. It was arranged in such a way that it brought out the emotional and sentimental elements of the whole experience making it an even more memorable and unforgettable event.

The students were presented with a memento for remembrance of their life at Amrita before the event came to its sweet end.

WORKSHOP ON PSYCHOTHERAPY, CBT AND MET

On 17.05.2023, the Department of Social Work, Amrita Vishwa Vidyapeetham, Coimbatore, under the guidance of Dr. Priya- Assistant Professor of the department, organised a one-day workshop titled "Psychotherapy, Cognitive Behaviour Therapy and Motivation Enhancement Therapy". The session was handled by Dr. Varsha Vishwanathan, the Consultant Psychiatrist of GKNM Hospital, Coimbatore.

Psychotherapy also known as talk therapy refers to an entire gamut of treatment strategies that are aimed at helping individuals to identify and alter troubling emotions, thoughts and behaviours. It can be conducted in case work as well as group work settings. This method has its roots in the Western tradition and acquired prominence in the 19th century as a non-invasive and non-restraint therapeutic treatment method. This was developed during the time when Freud began focusing on conditions that appeared to have psychological causes that had its origin in childhood experiences and the unconscious mind.

Dr. Varsha Vishwanathan with Dr. V Priya and Medical and Psychiatry students

Psychotherapy is a process where a person becomes aware of his automatic thoughts that are harmful or inaccurate. It is used as an alternative to or alongside medicine and other treatment options.

CBT

Cognitive Behaviour Therapy (CBT) is an approach that helps the patient find ways to question their thoughts and how it affects their emotions and behaviour, and bring a change in self-defeating thought patterns. It helps to cope with stress and enhances problem-solving skills. It is associated with development of mindfulness that helps in the improvement of social and communication skills of the clients. Exposure therapy is a kind of CBT that is used to treat Anxiety Spectrum Disorders.

CBT is a means of supportive counselling as well as a safety plan to help clients having tendencies that are self-harming and suicidal in nature. CBT is used in the treatment of people with depression, alcohol and drug use disorders, eating disorders, marital issues and other severe mental illnesses.

MET

Motivation Enhancement Therapy (MET) is a directive person-centred approach that focuses on improving the individuals' motivation to change. It is done by increasing intrinsic motivation to raise awareness of a problem by adjusting self-defeating thoughts regarding the problem and by enhancing the confidence in the person's ability to change.

MET is conducted based on the principle of acceptance, non-judgemental attitude and by the expression of empathy. The therapist is involved in reflective listening and makes the client understand the discrepancy between the individual's desired state of being and their current state of being. The therapists guide them in understanding the current ways that hinder them from achieving their goals by providing a strong incentive for behavioural change. In the process realistic goals are set by the clients themselves and not by the therapist. The solutions to the problem are thus elicited from the clients themselves.

The session handled by Dr. Varsha enriched the students' understanding about the key aspects of Psychotherapy, CBT and MET. There was also a Q&A session at the end where the students raised their questions regarding those approaches that were discussed. Dr. Priya on behalf of the Department of Social Work, extended vote of thanks to Dr. Varsha Vishwanathan before concluding the session.

BOOK REVIEW

NORWEGIAN WOOD

"Norwegian Wood" by Haruki Murakami is a mesmerizing and poignant exploration of love, loss, and the complexities of human relationships. Set against the backdrop of 1960s Tokyo, the novel follows Toru Watanabe, a college student grappling with the emotional weight of his past.

Murakami's writing style is characterized by its lyrical prose and introspective tone. He effortlessly weaves together the themes of nostalgia, melancholy, and longing, drawing readers into a world of deep emotions. The story unfolds through Toru's perspective, allowing us to intimately experience his journey as he navigates the labyrinth of his own heart.

One of the novel's primary focuses is the exploration of love and its many forms. Toru finds himself torn between two women: Naoko, his fragile and troubled childhood friend, and Midori, a vivacious and independent young woman. Through these complex relationships, Murakami delves into the intricacies of desire, intimacy, and the blurred boundaries of love.

Additionally, "Norwegian Wood" delves into themes of mental health and the profound impact it has on individuals. Naoko's struggle with depression and her fragile state of mind serve as a poignant reflection of the broader societal issues prevalent during the 1960s. Murakami treats mental illness with empathy and sensitivity, emphasizing the devastating effects it can have on those affected and the people around them.

The novel's pacing is deliberate, allowing readers to immerse themselves in the introspective nature of the narrative. While the story may lack the fast-paced plotlines typically associated with popular fiction, it compensates with its depth and emotional resonance. Murakami's skillful characterization brings the cast of flawed and vulnerable individuals to life, making them relatable and engaging.

One of the novel's strengths lies in its ability to capture the essence of a specific time and place. The backdrop of 1960s Tokyo serves as a vibrant and contrasting setting, reflecting the societal changes and cultural tensions of the era. From the college campuses to the seedy underbelly of the city, Murakami paints a vivid picture that enhances the overall narrative.

"Norwegian Wood" is a novel that lingers in the mind long after the final page. It is a beautiful and introspective exploration of love, loss, and the fragility of the human spirit. While it may not suit readers seeking fast-paced action, its rich themes, evocative prose, and memorable characters make it a rewarding and thought-provoking read. Murakami's masterful storytelling is on full display, cementing his place as one of the most celebrated contemporary authors.

WELL- KNOWN SOCIAL WORKER

SHRI. GAJANAN JAGANNATH MANE: A BEACON OF INSPIRATION

A name that resonates with unwavering dedication and selfless service, is a true inspiration to many, Indian Navy veteran Gajanan Jagannath Mane who has been rendering his service to the downtrodden community, especially to Leprosy patients and their families, has been conferred with the Padma Shri award. Born on May 14, 1949, Shri Mane completed his basic education and completed the boiler competency examination that helped him professionally. Mane joined the Indian Navy at the age of 16, inspired by the Indo-China war and the sacrifices made in it by the soldiers. His remarkable achievements and compassionate nature have earned him respect and admiration from all who have had the privilege of knowing him.

From a young age, Mane showed a keen interest in education and a strong desire to uplift those around him. Despite facing numerous financial challenges, he persevered and completed his education, acquiring a degree in social work. This solid foundation laid the groundwork for his lifelong commitment to social welfare and community development.

Mane's impact on society is multifaceted. As a social worker, he initiated various programs aimed at empowering marginalized communities. He spearheaded campaigns for women's rights, advocating for equal opportunities and protection against domestic violence. Through vocational training initiatives, he equipped the youth with essential skills, enabling them to secure sustainable livelihoods. Mane also played a pivotal role in promoting education by establishing schools and scholarships for underprivileged children.

Beyond his work in social welfare, Mane is a champion of environmental conservation. Recognizing the need to preserve nature for future generations, he launched tree plantation drives, organized awareness programs, and actively participated in clean-up campaigns. His efforts have contributed to the restoration of local ecosystems and have inspired countless individuals to take action in preserving our planet.

Mane's selflessness and commitment to service extend to disaster relief and humanitarian efforts. In times of natural calamities or emergencies, he has been at the forefront, organizing relief camps, providing essential supplies, and offering solace to those affected. His compassionate approach and unwavering support have provided hope and comfort to countless individuals during their darkest hours.

Shri. Gajanan Jagannath Mane's impact extends far beyond the boundaries of his village. His tireless efforts have been recognized and applauded at national and international levels. He has received numerous accolades and awards for his exceptional contributions to society. However, what truly sets Mane apart is his humility and his unwavering belief in the power of collective action. Despite his achievements, he remains grounded and continues to work towards his vision of a just and equitable society. He has been conferred with the prestigious Padma Shri for his altruistic contribution towards eradication and rehabilitation of leprosy patients and their families in Maharashtra. In conclusion, Shri. Gajanan Jagannath Mane's journey is a testament to the transformative power of determination, compassion, and service. His unwavering commitment to social welfare, environmental conservation, and humanitarian aid serves as a beacon of inspiration for generations to come. Mane's life is a reminder that a single individual, armed with a genuine desire to bring about positive change, can make an indelible impact on the world. As we reflect on his remarkable achievements, let us be inspired to follow in his footsteps and strive for a more compassionate and just society

INDIAN EVIDENCE ACT 1872

The Imperial Legislative Council of India first approved the Indian Evidence Act (1) in 1872, during the British Raj, and it provides a collection of guidelines and affiliated matters governing the admissibility of substantiation in Indian courts of law. The Indian substantiation Act, also known as Act No. 1 of 1872 (2) and occasionally pertained to as the Indian Evidence Act, 1872, includes 167 vittles' and eleven chapters and went into effect on September 1, 1872. India was also a part of the British Empire. The Indian Evidence Act hasn't changed important throughout more than 125 times since it was legislated, with the exception of many irregular variations.

Emendations:

The 2005 Criminal Law Amendment Act, Act of 2018 (22 of 2018) to Amend the Criminal Law The 2019 Jammu and Kashmir Reorganisation Act. The Indian substantiation Act was legislated and put into effect as a ground- breaking legal measure that fully altered the sundries of what substantiation is permissible in Indian courts of law. The laws governing substantiation up to that point were innovated on the customary legal structures of India's colourful social groupings and communities, and they varied for colourful individualities according to their estate, community, religion, and social standing. An each- inclusive set of laws was established by the Indian substantiation Act. Sir James Fitz James Stephen, who might be considered the father of this comprehensive piece of legislation, put a lot of hard trouble into creating the law, which is largely what it's moment.

SCHEMES

CENTRAL SCHEME- THE ATAL PENSION YOJANA

The Atal Pension Yojana was included in the 2015–16 Union Budget by Mr. Arun Jaitley, who was the finance minister at the time. This programme is a pension plan that attempts to offer retirement benefits to members of the unorganised sector of society, such as housekeepers, gardeners, delivery boys, etc. People can apply for this programme even if they work in the private sector or for a company that does not offer pension benefits.

The Pension Fund Regulatory and Development Authority (PFRDA) oversees the functioning of the scheme. This scheme offers choices for receiving a fixed pension ranging from Rs. 1000 to Rs. 5000 for people who attain 60 years of age. Anyone interested in this programme must be between the ages of 18 and 40 and contribute at least for 20 years.

The government would guarantee the minimum pension under the Atal Pension Yojana, meaning that it will cover any gap in actual return on pension contributions that occurs over the period of contributions. The subscriber will receive enhanced scheme benefits if, on the other hand, the real return on pension contributions is higher than the return during the term of contribution for the minimum guaranteed pension.

Each eligible subscriber who joins the plan between 1 June 2015 and 31 March 2016 and who is a member of any other social security scheme will get a co-contribution from the government equal to 50% of the total payment, or Rs. 1000 per year, whichever is less. Neither a beneficiary nor an income tax payer. From the fiscal year 2015–16 through the fiscal year 2019–20, the government will co-contribute for 5 years.

As of right now, members of the National Pension System (NPS) are entitled to tax breaks for their payments as well as investment profits. Additionally, only the subscriber's pension income is considered ordinary income and is taxed at the applicable marginal rate upon the purchase price of an annuity upon exiting the NPS. Similar tax treatment is applicable for subscribers of APY.

ATAL PENSION YOJANA

The Atal Pension Yojana was set up in an effort to provide the unorganised sector of the country with a much-needed pension solution.

Why the Atal Pension Yojana Scheme is needed?

The weaker sections of society barely make ends meet which leaves them no money left over for savings.

Features and Benefits of Atal Pension Yojana

Subscribers can choose to get a monthly pension of Rs. 1,000, Rs. 2,000, Rs. 3,000, Rs. 4,000 and Rs. 5,000.

Eligibility

- To join this scheme, you must be at least 18 years old.
- You should not be more than 40 years old.
- The minimum contribution period is 20 years.
- You need a savings account.

Government Co-Pay

To encourage people to join this scheme, the Government of India threw in an added bonus. They would contribute a sum towards the pension accounts for a period of 5 years from 2015 to 2020.

CURRENT AFFAIRS

MAY 2023

1. The Green Shift: The Low Carbon Transition of India's Oil and Gas Sector

In a recent report released by the Energy Transition Advisory Committee (ETAC), titled "The Green Shift: The Low Carbon Transition of India's Oil and Gas Sector," the Ministry of Petroleum and Natural Gas (MoP & NG) emphasized the need for India's energy transition and highlighted various pathways to achieve a low-carbon future. One promising solution highlighted in the report is the use of Compressed Bio-gas (CBG) as an alternative to imported fossil natural gas. While CBG production has gained momentum globally, with European and North American markets leading the way, India is still in the early stages of implementation. As of March 2023, only 46 out of the planned 5,000 CBG plants have been commissioned under the Sustainable Alternative Towards Affordable Transportation (SATAT) scheme. However, the Union government has set ambitious goals to increase the proportion of gas in the energy mix to 15% by 2030, positioning CBG as a crucial domestic energy source.

2. What is Sengol?

In the upcoming inauguration of the new Parliament building, a significant item called the 'Sengol' sceptre will be installed at a prominent spot. The 'Sengol' sceptre carries significant historical significance as it was gifted to Jawaharlal Nehru, India's inaugural Prime Minister, representing the handover of authority from the British colonial rule. Derived from the Tamil word 'semmai,' which means excellence, the 'Sengol' represents the embodiment of power and authority. To bring the 'Sengol' sceptre to life, Chennai-based jewellers Vummidi Bangaru Chetty undertook the task of crafting this historic symbol. They meticulously designed the five-foot-long sceptre, featuring the majestic figure of Nandi, the divine bull, atop it. Nandi symbolizes 'nyaya,' representing the ideals of justice and fairness.

3. G20 High-Level Principles on Hydrogen

The global shift towards clean and sustainable energy sources is gaining momentum as countries strive to reduce greenhouse gas emissions and combat climate change. In this context, India has proposed a discussion on global standards for 'green, clean, and low carbon' hydrogen at the recent G20 Energy Transition Working Group meeting. India's proposal aims to establish global standards for hydrogen production that align with sustainability goals. The proposed emission limit for hydrogen production is up to 2 kg of carbon dioxide equivalent per kg of hydrogen. Initially, the proposal focused on 'green hydrogen,' but after suggestions from member countries, considerations for 'clean and low carbon' hydrogen were also included.

4. Education Ministry's Workshop Unifying School Boards for Enhanced Assessment

The Ministry of Education recently organized a workshop in New Delhi with the objective of unifying school examination boards across different states and union territories. The workshop aimed to address the need for a common platform and harmonized practices for school assessments and examinations. The workshop revolved around the crucial goal of unifying school examination boards under one umbrella. This initiative seeks to establish a cohesive system that streamlines assessment practices and standards across the educational landscape of the country. By bringing together the diverse boards operating in different states and union territories, the aim is to ensure consistency, fairness, and equity in the evaluation of students' performance.

5. Rayyanah Barnawi

Rayyanah Barnawi made history as the first Arab woman to venture into space. The highly anticipated maiden space mission of Saudi Arabia took place on May 21. Barnawi, along with her co-astronaut Ali al-Qarni, embarked on their journey aboard the SpaceX Falcon 9 rocket. Renowned astronauts Peggy Whitson and John Shoffner joined Barnawi and al-Qarni on this significant mission. Together, they formed a team representing both Saudi Arabia and the United States. The mission held great importance for Saudi Arabia as it strove to expand its space science education and reduce its reliance on oil, in alignment with the Vision 2030 reform program. This program aimed to create new opportunities and jobs for young Saudis while driving economic diversification.

6.76th World Health Assembly

The 76th World Health Assembly, a significant global health event, is scheduled to be held from May 21 to May 30 in Geneva, Switzerland. This annual assembly serves as a platform for representatives from all member states of the World Health Organization (WHO) to come together and address pressing health issues that affect people worldwide. Among the esteemed participants, Union Health Minister Mansukh Mandaviya will be representing India at this influential gathering. This year's assembly revolves around the theme: "WHO at 75: Saving lives, driving health for all." It underscores the importance of prioritizing global health efforts to ensure the well-being and prosperity of all individuals, irrespective of geographical location or socioeconomic background. The theme emphasizes the need for collaborative action and innovative strategies to address health inequalities and promote universal health coverage.

7. Kudumbashree Celebrates Silver Jubilee

President Droupadi Murmu, during her recent visit to Kerala, inaugurated the silver jubilee celebrations of Kudumbashree, the largest self-help group network in the country. The event celebrating the silver jubilee of Kudumbashree provided the opportunity to assess its accomplishments, examine the quality of life of its members, and plan for future sustainable development goals. As part of the celebrations, President Murmu also released a handbook titled "Chuvadu," which encapsulates the ideas and achievements of Kudumbashree. This handbook provides a roadmap for the future of the organization, showcasing its progress and guiding its future endeavors.

8. RBI Withdraws Rs.2,000 Denomination Notes

The Reserve Bank of India (RBI) has recently taken a significant step by withdrawing the Rs 2000 banknotes from circulation. The RBI has decided to withdraw Rs.2,000 notes as it has fulfilled the currency requirement objective and the availability of alternative denominations. Initially introduced to meet the urgent need for currency after the demonetization exercise in 2016, the printing of these notes ceased in 2018-19 as the objective was achieved and other denominations became adequately available. The Clean Note Policy is an important aspect of the RBI's initiatives to provide the public with good-quality currency notes and coins that incorporate enhanced security features. It aims to ensure that soiled notes are withdrawn from circulation.

9.G-7 Hiroshima Summit

The G7 summit brings together leaders from seven of the world's most powerful democracies to discuss pressing global issues. As the summit rotates among its member countries, this year's meeting is being hosted by Japan. The Group of Seven, composed of Canada, France, Germany, Italy, Japan, the United Kingdom, and the United States, focuses on a wide range of topics, including economic policy, security, climate change, energy, and gender equality. The G7 summit serves as a platform for leaders of the seven member nations to engage in discussions and decision-making processes that shape global policies. With its origins dating back to 1975, when France hosted a meeting of the then-Group of Six nations to address the repercussions of an Arab oil embargo-induced recession, the G7 has evolved to address contemporary global challenges. Canada joined a year later, expanding the group to seven members.

10.Exercise Jal Rahat

The Indian Army's Gajraj Corps, in collaboration with various disaster management groups, recently conducted a joint flood relief drill called 'Exercise Jal Rahat.' The drill took place at Hagrama Bridge on the Manas River in Assam, aiming to enhance flood relief preparedness ahead of the monsoon season. The exercise emphasized coordination among multiple agencies and focused on efficient rescue operations and the utilization of innovative strategies. Exercise Jal Rahat aimed to strengthen the preparedness of flood relief efforts. Recognizing the challenges posed by monsoon floods, the drill focused on improving coordination between different organizations involved in disaster response. Alongside the Indian Army's Gajraj Corps, personnel from Sashastra Seema Bal (SSB), National Disaster Response Force (NDRF), State Disaster Response Force (SDRF), District Disaster Management Authority (DDMA), and police representatives participated in the exercise.

Pursuing higher studies at University of Gloucestershire U K

Job title

Pursuing MBA

How was your life at Amrita?

It was an entirely unique experience to see individuals from all cultures interact freely. With the exception of the temperature and the fact that eating vegetarian food at first was difficult, the two years were well spent.

What are the key skills that you learned at Amrita that helped your career?

Communication, interpersonal, to be empathetic and most important listening skill

How is the current scope of Social Work?

Not sure because I travelled abroad for higher education, although options existed at the time, but the pay was insufficient to support me and advancements were gradual.

What message would you like to give for the current MSW students?

I would advise upgrading yourself with the numerous courses that are offered or events, and socialising is one of the crucial tools. Having an MSW degree is not the end, it is just the beginning. Open your heart and seize any opportunity you can, especially during fieldwork where you may put your theoretical knowledge to use.

What are your key responsibilities in the present job?

I am pursuing my MBA in the United Kingdom

Who is/are your inspiration?

My parents, who have always supported me in all of my endeavours, especially allowing me to pursue a second Master's degree in the United Kingdom.

Anything else you would like to share?

Even though your teachers reprimand you for bothering them, they used to be the happiest people when they saw you improving, so trust yourself and speak out anytime you need help.
